Give Them a Chance!

That is to say, your lungs. Also all you breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thou ands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not be there your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boehe's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, may depend upon this for certain.

Merit Will Tell.

SATURDAY JULY 30, 1887

The Republican standard bearer in the coming political campaign in Ohio is Governor J. B. Foraker. He is the choice of the party to succeed himself as Chief Executive. Foraker is immensely popular in that State, as the writer has learned by coming into personal contact this month with prominent citizens in Toledo, Norwalk, Alliance, Cleveland and other places in Ohio. This popularity is easily accounted for; it arises from his personal magnetism, his ability as a statesman, his integrity as a public official and his unwavering patriotism. His stand taken on the return of the rebel flags, as recently proposed by President Cleveland, has endeared him more closely than before to the soldier element, not only of that State, but of the whole country. The prohibition element, which is a disturbing factor in Ohio politics, cannot be otherwise than friendly to Foraker, and for various reasons. While the writer for fifteen years has had personal acquaintanceship with his opponent, the Honorable Thomas E. Powell, and recognized his merits, we predict for Foraker and the party he leads in Ohio in the coming contest a victory so decided as to carry dismay and terror into the ranks of the Ohio Democracy.

The next meeting of the National Educational Association will be held in San Francisco in July, 1888. This is the largest educational association in the world, and its presence next year on this Coast will be an important event in the history of our western systems of education. These thousands of college Presidents and Professors, State Superintendents, City Superintendents, principals and teachers of the East, South and Northwest will do more to advertise the climate, the natural scenery, the mining, agricultural and other resources of Nevada and California than any similar class of people that has ever visited the Pacific Coast. Nevada people should see to it that cheap excursions be arranged so that the members of the association may visit all of the principal places of interest in this State.

Crop reports telegraphed to Bradstreet's are favorable for cotton and rice. The bulk of winter wheat has been harvested, and the outlook is for 35,000,000 less production than in 1886; spring wheat production may be 5,000,000 bushels less, or a total crop of 417,000,000, against 457,000,000 last year. A severe drought has threatened serious damage to the crops in Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, Kansas, Missouri and Iowa, but late telegraphic advices report rains in Ohio, Illinois, Iowa and Missouri, which affected prices at once.

The interpretation of the words "habitually intemperate" in policy of life insurance is a question of fact for the jury rather than a question addressed to the court, according to the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in the case of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company vs. Muskegon National Bank. The court said it knew of no established legal definition of these words.

The Secretary of the Interior to-day denied the claim of Wm. Hedges, an ex-private of the Forty-second Indiana, for a pension. Hedges was captured in 1863 and sent to Andersonville. After five months he enlisted in the Confederate army, for the sole purpose, as he told, some fellow prisoners, of deserting at the first chance and getting back to his old command, and this he did, and served in his old regiment till discharged. Some years ago he applied for a pension on the ground of disability incurred in the Federal service. The law provides that no one who aided, directly or indirectly, the enemies of the Government, shall have a pension. Hedges' claim was based on the fact that the Confederacy rendered him amenable to this law. The case has been pending for a long time, and many opinions have been written on it. It reached the Secretary to-day. The papers in the case include a strong protest against the payment of the pension from Commissioner Black.

Secretary Whitney has received a report from Captain Bruce, regarding the steamer Atlanta, respecting her accidental grounding off Newport Tuesday, during a fog. Captain Bruce says no injury was done to the vessel, with the possible exception of having broken a piece off the end of a temporary caisson propeller blade. She proceeded to sea the next day and the battery was tested, to the satisfaction of the Captain and Board. The authorities at the Naval Department say nothing has been received from the Board, and they are unable to say whether the test of the battery proved to be serviceable or not, though the impression drawn from previous reports is that it must have been otherwise.

The revenues of this month amount to $22,000,000. The expenditures during the same time, including a sum of $50,000 paid for pensions, amount to about $25,500,000. Treasurer Hyatt reports the surplus to-day as $45,100,000—an increase of nearly $6,000,000 since the same date of last month.

Not Much of a Surprise.
PHILADELPHIA, July 30.

The Columbian Bank, a State institution, closed its doors this morning and on the door a notice was posted stating that, by order of the Board of Directors, the bank would make an assignment for the benefit of its creditors. At noon another notice was issued saying an assignment had been made to S. Edwin Megargee and F. H. Kieran, two attorneys. All efforts to obtain any statement as to the amount of liabilities or assets proved futile, both the bank officials and the assignees declining to say whether they intended to inquire into the condition of affairs yet. It is believed, however, that the assignment is a complete one. President Bell of the Farmers' and Mechanics' Bank, with whom the Columbia has kept an account for several years, stated that the checks of the latter were dishonored because they had no money to their credit, and furthermore, that they had no securities or deposit, as was the case in the Columbian's officials. Mr. Bell said the securities offered consisted of checks and drafts on outside banks, and that the Farmers' and Mechanics' would not accept them except for collection, and if they proved good the money would be paid, but nothing would be advanced. It is understood from reliable sources that the chief cause of the failure were the heavy advances made by the Bank of Iowa, State Bank of New York, and on consignments of merchandise shipped from South America. The failure has caused some excitement in the city, although among financial men it was not much of a surprise.

John Taylor's Funeral.

SALT LAKE, July 29.

The funeral of John Taylor was held to-day. The body lay in state in the big Tabernacle from 7 in the morning till noon, thousands of people passing through the building and viewing it. When the services over the remains were begun some 6,000 people were in the Tabernacle, many comprising families with lunches and babies, who sat for hours to hold eligible seats. John Taylor's numerous family occupied a prominent position, filling three or four long benches.

He was buried in a simple casket, draped in black and white, but the floral emblems were rather scanty. A bee-hive, with the cross, crown and anchor were the most prominent. The coffin was pine, polished brilliantly. The deceased was dressed in white, with shoes on his feet and the usual burial robes, all in accordance with written directions of Taylor, deposited with his will.

The services were very tedious and without any sign of emotion or grief, and devoted chiefly to a discussion of Mormonism, and declaring it the Lord's work, which was bound to prevail against any opposition of man and fill the whole earth. This lasted nearly three hours. Then the body was taken to the cemetery. There were about one hundred carriages in the line, with many buggies and wagons. The body was deposited in the grave, with the wife who died last winter, but only temporarily, for both will be moved into a granite vault to be built for them. The funeral was much less numerously attended and less gaudy than that of Brigham Young.

A Heavy Forgery.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 29.

A published statement is made here that a lady occupying a prominent position in society yesterday presented a forged check for $25,000 at one of the leading banks, and drew the money, and when the fraud was discovered a search was begun, and it was found that the lady had left the city. She was followed immediately by Captain Lees, of the detective force, and W. H. L. Barnes, attorney for the bank, who overtook her a few miles out of the city and recovered the money, on condition that the affair be kept quiet. The bank officials refused to be interviewed.

TO WASHINGTON AND BACK IN 24 DAYS.

The Excursion Party a Success—Interesting Points Visited—Personal Notes.

On the morning of July 5th our party of twenty-four left Reno for the East. It was a jolly crowd; never left for a pleasure trip a more jolly one. In the number were many mutual friends, and after having been out but a few hours on the alkali plains eastward all were acquainted. Each became interested in the others' comfort and pleasure. The 6th was spent in Salt Lake City seeing the sights, bathing at Garfield Beach, twenty miles distant, and taking in the theater in the evening. Our party paid its respects to Judge Goodwin, of the Tribune, Major Dennis, of the Democrat, while the lady members of "mashing" proclivities paid their respects to numerous susceptible Mormon lads, and did them up in good style. On the morning of the 7th our private car was attached to the overland eastward bound. On the afternoon of the 8th our car was side-tracked at Denver. Soon after we arrived, with a four-in-hand we took in the

QUEEN CITY OF THE PLAINS

We passed the residence of ex-Senator Tabor, ex-Senator Hill, ex-Governor Routt, the Denver University, the new State House, in process of erection, and many other places of interest. We paid our respects to Hon. Wells Drury, of the Republican, and in return had a pleasant call from him. His friends will be pleased to know that Mr. Drury has an excellent position and is making a good record on the leading paper of the Centennial State. Denver is a beautiful city of 80,000 inhabitants. In its shade trees, in its streams of pure water, in its large business blocks and its beautiful residences, it has in the United States few, if any, superiors other than Washington, D. C. It has no Pennsylvania Avenue, Chestnut Avenue, Euclid Avenue, Fifth Avenue or Michigan Avenue, but it has some homes which for beauty of site and elegance in art unparalleled in any city from Boston to San Francisco. At Denver Mrs. Corwell, Miss Taylor, and Mrs. Scott left the party, going further east by way of the K. P. division of the Union Pacific. At Omaha Mrs. Davidson, Miss Gruber and Mr. Lee took another route, so that but 18 of the party together reached Chicago. The special car had run over the Chicago and Northwestern railway to Chicago; this contrast to our expectations but much to our delight. After a few hours we were at Santa Fe, and Mrs. Eymann, Mrs. Fassett, Mrs. Welch, Mrs. Jepson, Mrs. Nugent and Mrs. McLaughlin and family went on east, while the remaining seven stopped at Chicago for nearly a week. There were

MANY INCIDENTS OF INTEREST

On the trip, but for fear of being mobbed by irate mothers and fathers, and jealous husbands, this reporter is bound to absolute secrecy. Some unaccountably mysterious things happened, but not being a domestic man suppose I am really ignorant of what would be considered mysterious family. Supplementary to a merited endorsement given to Manager Putman, all agree that in an excursion party like this is by far the best way to go across the continent.

SAW THE SIGHTS.

Visited George Washington's old home at Mt. Vernon, Robert E. Lee's old home at Arlington, the Capitol, the navy yard, Smithsonian, White House, the Corcoran Art Gallery, the buildings of the Treasury, Interior, Bureau of Education and many other places. Returning, visited Niagara Falls, taking in Euclid Avenue, the various parks and Garfield monument at Cleveland, still calling there on Honorable Thomas Jones and James Jones, the talented brothers of our Senator, Jno. P. Jones. At Chicago took dinner with Colonel and Mrs. Parker, who visited Reno last summer, and who will be pleasantly remembered by our people. Mrs. Parker said, "I never had so grand a time in my life as I had in Nevada. Give our love to everybody there who remember us." The Colonel was equally enthusiastic while speaking of the hospitality he received at the hands of our Nevada folks while on that professional visit here. Space in this issue will not permit an extended description of what I saw and heard in this trip to the Atlantic States. Besides the six thousand miles traveled, all this and much more could be told in six columns like these, was seen on this trip of 24 days. On my return last evening I could not help reflecting on what wonderful facilities for travel we have in this country. Twenty years ago the similar sights so widely separate could not have been seen by traveling 365 days nor could it have been seen even at an expense of five times the expense of the trip. C. S. YOUNG.

DR. NEWMAN INTERVIEWED. His Views on the Presidential Question.

Dr. Newman, the former personal friend of General Grant, and one of the best pulpit orators in the United States, passed through Reno last evening on his way to Yellowstone Park via San Francisco. In the latter place he will spend a week with Senator Stanford, of whom he is a warm personal friend. While on the trip from Ogden here a Gazette reporter had several interviews with the distinguished divine on political questions. The reporter learned that the doctor is not at all friendly to the nomination of either Blaine or Sherman for President. He thinks that there must be a dark horse trotted out. He says Stanford stands as good a chance as any of them; that the speech made in the Senate by the California Senator, favoring the organization of labor in its own interests, as well as one or two newspaper interviews on the labor question, has made him thousands of admirers among the labor elements of the East. The establishment of the Leland Stanford Junior University at Palo Alto, at a cost of $30,000,000, has made him friends among other classes of people. "On the whole," says the Parson, "I think Stanford is available, and would make a strong candidate."

But would he accept?" asks the reporter.

The Doctor replied: "In all my talks with him on the subject I never heard him say he would accept. In this respect he is like Grant. Through all my years of intimacy with the latter he never would admit that he was a candidate for either the second or third term as President. In this Grant was misinformed. What other members of his family might say was often quoted as if he said it. I cannot, therefore, speak authoritatively, nor do I believe any of Stanford's friends can, yet I think Stanford would like the honor, and would accept the nomination."
